Why MASA

Many are feeling the impact as the cost of emergency transportation increases and access to emergency care decreases.

- Consistent cuts in Medicare affect how your claims are paid, exposing you to more financial risk.*
- The increasing cost of healthcare means more out-of-pocket costs for you. Growth in Medicare spending due to an aging population, growing enrollment and higher healthcare costs, result in higher Medicare premiums, deductibles, and cost-sharing paid for by beneficiaries.

Your Medicare plan or private health insurance might not provide the protection you need in all scenarios.

- Medicare usually doesn't cover healthcare while you're outside the U.S.
- Medicare generally won't pay for services like return ambulance trips home, if they didn't cover your hospital stay abroad or you received ambulance and doctor services outside the hospital after your covered hospital abroad stay ended.

MASA guarantees

- NO health questions
- NO age limits
- NO claim forms
- NO network deductibles
- NO network limitations
- NO dollar limits on emergency transport costs†
- Worldwide coverage
- Even pre-existing medical conditions are covered from day 1 for emergency transportation services.

“

My wife and I found ourselves in an accident that required emergency air medical transport for the both of us. We are members of MASA and never thought we would really need the service but bought it “just in case.” Just in case, became reality of need and MASA was there to answer the call. We will NEVER be without a MASA membership again. This is one service that your family does not want to be without!

— Jonathan E., MASA member

My experience with MASA has been wonderful! We have had two ambulance bills in the past two years, one just recently, that were only partially paid by Medicare. I submitted the balance to MASA, and they promptly paid the balance in full with no delay. I have been extremely pleased with their services and with the friendly responses to phone calls. So glad we signed up years ago after attending a presentation.

3 ways you can incur unexpected ambulance costs:

01) Event is deemed not medically necessary

Your primary insurance provider can deny your claim if they don't consider it "medically necessary," leaving you responsible for the entire bill.

Medicare can deny your claim leaving you to pay out of pocket

In an emergency, the last thing you need to worry about is whether Medicare will cover your emergency ambulance bill.

- Your event must be deemed medically necessary.
- Payment for transportation is allowed only to the closest facility that can provide the necessary care.
- Transportation to a facility to be closer to home or family is not covered.

02) Out-of-network provider

If your ambulance was medically necessary, it may still be out-of-network.

79% of all ground ambulance rides could result in an out-of-network bill¹, incurring higher out of pocket costs.

03) Co-pays & deductibles

If your ambulance is considered medically necessary and in-network, most insurance plans, including Medicare will still require you to pay member cost sharing.

Your out-of-pocket costs:

- Copays
- Co-insurance
- Deductibles

➤ Even if you have primary health coverage, YOU can be responsible for emergency ambulance bills. Ensure your protection and peace of mind by enrolling in a MASA plan.

We signed up for the lifetime coverage which gives us great comfort knowing we will not have to worry about the cost of any [emergency] medical transport. The cost of one necessary transport could more than outweigh the cost of this policy.

Frequently asked questions

Won't my insurance pay for an ambulance or emergency medical transports?

Due to the nature of modern health insurance, there's a chance that you could be responsible for a large portion of your emergency transportation bill. Even if health insurance covers part of your bill, there are many scenarios where they may not cover the total cost. The ambulance that picks you up may be out-of-network, the reason for your trip may not be deemed a medical necessity, or you might still have to meet your health insurance deductible.

Do members call MASA at the time of an emergency?

No. In the event of an emergency, call 911 or the designated emergency response number for the country or region you are located in. Later, when you receive a bill from the ambulance company, simply send it to us.

What do MASA members do when they receive an ambulance bill?

If you are a MASA member, you can log in to the Members section of our website to file a claim or check the status of an existing claim. Visit <http://www.masaaccess.com/member>. Alternatively you can email your bill to ambulanceclaims@masaglobal.com or mail it with your member number clearly written on the front to MASA – 1301 International Parkway, Suite 300, Sunrise, Florida 33323.

Will a MASA plan pay copays or deductibles?

Yes! Our goal is to leave you with complete peace of mind. We will cover out-of-pocket costs including copays and deductibles for members actively enrolled in a MASA plan.
