

Protection for executive leaders, wherever life and business takes them

MASA Platinum emergency medical transport protection enhances executive benefits by providing key leaders with coverage and access around the globe.

As executive teams grow and the amount of travel rises, so does the need for more comprehensive, tailored benefits that prioritize their health and safety. With executives spending more time on-the-go and managing high-pressure responsibilities, having access to emergency care around the world isn't just a luxury — it's a necessity.

Mobility is the model: With over half of work (53%) done away from headquarters, executives are often far from home when health emergencies occur.¹

Focus on executive needs: As C-suite roles expand and executives take on more exposure, companies must offer tailored support — especially through benefits. 86% of business leaders agree that effective benefits for executives are critical to long-term success.²

Health is a priority: The average age of C-suite leaders has risen to 57.³ Executives are 37% more likely to have a chronic illness than other employees and seek more than just traditional healthcare benefits.⁴

With access to emergency medical transportation and global repatriation, MASA ensures your leaders can access emergency care when and where it matters most. It's a valuable addition to any executive benefits package — one that helps attract, retain, and protect the individuals who drive your company's success.
